School of Nursing
Faculty of Community Services

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR POSITION

The Daphne Cockwell School of Nursing (DCSN) (<http://www.ryerson.ca/nursing>) invites applications for a tenure-stream Assistant Professor faculty position. This appointment is effective July 1, 2018, subject to final budgetary approval.

The Opportunity

Qualified applicants must have at least one completed Degree in Nursing in addition to a completed or near completed PhD in nursing or a related field (e.g., Indigenous Studies, Sociology, Social Science and Health, Anthropology, Internationalization of Education, Biostatistics, Epidemiology, Health Policy, Gender Studies, Ethics, Community Health/Public Health).

Qualified applicants will have established an independent program of research reflective of an early research career (i.e., publications, conference presentations, research funding, and investigator roles in research projects), demonstrated excellence in teaching, supervision and/or preceptorship of graduate students, and a strong capacity to teach courses across both baccalaureate and master's programs that will contribute to the ongoing success of the DCSN.

Qualified applicants' program of research will contribute to the development of knowledge related to one or a combination of the domains of professional practice and outcomes across the healthcare continuum: Indigenous/Aboriginal health, Health Services research, health equity, nursing education, interprofessional education and collaboration, leadership in health policy.

Qualified applicants will also display a capacity to meet high expectations for teaching, scholarship, academic leadership, collaboration and collegial service. Successful candidates are required to be registered, or eligible (<http://www.cno.org/en/become-a-nurse/new-applicants1/ontario/registration-requirements-for-rns-and-rpns/>) for registration with the College of Nurses of Ontario (General Class or Extended Class), at the time of application.

The fully accredited DCSN offers three dynamic programs: the Collaborative Nursing Degree Program, offered in partnership with Centennial and George Brown Colleges; the Post Diploma Nursing Degree Program; and a Master of Nursing Program that includes the Ontario Primary Health Care Nurse Practitioner Program. The DCSN has a diverse student body of approximately 2800 full time and part time individuals, including those in outreach and continuing education partnership programs. There are approximately 250 full time and part time graduate students enrolled in course stream, thesis, or nurse practitioner studies. Faculty and student participation is valued and encouraged within and between nursing programs. We take pride in our innovative and responsive approach to educating nurses.

At the intersection of mind and action, Ryerson is on a transformative path to become Canada's leading comprehensive innovation university. Integral to this path is the placement of equity, diversity and inclusion as fundamental to our institutional culture. Our current academic plan outlines each as core values and we work to embed them in all that we do.

Ryerson University welcomes those who have demonstrated a commitment to upholding the values of equity, diversity, and inclusion and will assist us to expand our capacity for diversity in the broadest sense. In addition, to correct the conditions of disadvantage in employment in Canada, we encourage applications from members of groups that have been historically disadvantaged and marginalized, including First Nations, Metis and Inuit peoples, Indigenous peoples of North America, racialized persons, persons with disabilities, and those who identify as women and/or 2SLGBTQ+. Please note that all qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, applications from Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.

As an employer, we are working towards a people first culture and are proud to have been selected as one of Canada's Best Diversity Employers and a Greater Toronto's Top Employer for both 2015 and 2016.
